

ten key questions

every company should ask themselves

	Yes	No	Current Progress	Assign To:
1. Do you conduct regular due diligence on your supply chain to ensure alignment with your values, standards and internal codes of conduct?
2. Do you measure and report on your waste generation, including the split between disposal, recycling and reuse?
3. Do you monitor your renewable and non-renewable energy consumption?
4. Do you have a documented strategy to reduce your Greenhouse Gas emissions?
5. Do you have a company travel policy to promote environmentally-friendly transport options and reduce unnecessary travel?
6. Do you have documented training programmes to develop your employees' skills and knowledge?
7. Do you comply with all known regulations and voluntary codes regarding the health and safety impacts of your products & services?
8. Do you put in place a 12-month operational plan and a 3-year strategic plan and budget?
9. Do you discuss ESG issues with a wide range of your stakeholders (e.g. customers, employees, communities)
10. Do you prepare regular financial and operational management information reports?				